

Faculty Newsletter

Fall 2014

FILMS ON DEMAND

Looking to add media to your curriculum? Films on Demand is a new resource from the Library that provides films and/or video clips on a broad range of subjects. From hospitality to geography, nursing or engineering, there are films that you and your students will find useful and interesting. The video is streamed live and is accessed from the Library's home page, "Databases by Title", under F for Films on Demand. Take a look at the collections below and introduce your students to great academic video.

Anthropology	Earth Science	History
Archival Films & Newsreels	Education	Mathematics
Area Studies	Engineering	Music & Dance
Art & Architecture	English	Philosophy & Religion
Biology	Environmental Science	Physical Science
Business & Economics	Family & Consumer Sciences	Political Science
Careers & Job Search	Geography	Psychology
Communication	Guidance & Counseling	Sociology
Criminal Justice & Law	Health & Medicine	Technical & Trade Education

BEACON

Search all the Libraries' resources at one time using Beacon, the DMC Libraries' new Discovery Service. Beacon will search the libraries' catalog and the libraries' databases from one search box. Use the limiters on the left side to customize your results. Call the Librarians at 698-1311 or 698-1754 to learn more about this great resource.

PERSONNEL CHANGES IN THE LIBRARY

Tetzlaff-Belhasen in 1990

Library staff bid farewell to Chris Tetzlaff-Belhasen, who dedicated 36 years to Del Mar College Libraries, in June, 2014. She spent 11 years as Head of Technical Services, then served as Library Director for 25 years until her retirement.

Tetzlaff-Belhasen in 2014

A nationwide search will be held for a Dean of Libraries position this fall. Until a Dean is hired, Sally Bickley will serve as the Interim Library Director.

Sally Bickley

Alexia Riggs, who started at DMC Libraries in 2012, left in August for Howard Payne University, where she is now Dean of Libraries.

Alexia Riggs

Due to a significant increase in price, the DMC Libraries no longer subscribe to StatRef!, which served Nursing and Allied Health with electronic books. We have, however, purchased other e-books that will provide the same or similar information to that provided by StatRef!. Please let us know if you are looking for a particular resource, so we can show you a similar title.

LIBRARY SERVICES

Customized Library Instruction

Popular Reading Section

Customized LibGuides

Kindles

Chat or Text a Librarian

Electronic Device Charging Station

Available from both Libraries: Barth Learning Resource Center on the West Campus and the William F. White, Jr. Library on the East Campus

QUESTIONS ? CONTACT THE LIBRARIANS

- phone, 698-1311 (East)
- phone, 698-1754 (West)
- email at refdesk@delmar.edu
- Try our chat service
- Text-a-Librarian at 232-5551
- in person at either Library